

PRESS RELEASE

Ramora UK forms strategic partnership with Scaffell Organics

July 2014

Ramora UK, a leading global provider of Bomb Disposal services, is delighted to announce that it has formed a strategic partnership with Scaffell Organics Ltd.

Scaffell Organics, founded in 2002 and headquartered in Nottinghamshire is a small independent company primarily manufacturing and supplying research. Alongside this, Scaffell supply fine organic chemicals and materials in a wide span of applications.

Alongside their manufacturing facility is a contract packing and distribution service utilising onsite ADR/IMDG/IATA trained staff with a fully EU compliant software package generating relevant documentation in order to ship hazardous goods worldwide. Ramora UK will work in partnership with Scaffell Organics offering reactive chemical response, including neutralisation (where necessary) and packing and removal of hazardous substances following a spill or similar incident, all through Ramora UK's 24/7 Control Room facility. This service also extends to surplus or unwanted chemicals that require disposal.

“With the complementary knowledge and understanding that our two companies have of the hazardous goods industry, a strategic partnership is the way forward to broaden and strengthen the services provided independently by each company” said David Welch FCMI, MIEpE, MIABTI Managing Director of Ramora UK. “Undoubtedly, the combined knowledge and expertise will not only provide excellent value for money in the services delivered but also vastly strengthen the technical and practical capability of our emergency response 24/7 Control Room facility”.

David Bowen FRSC Director of Scaffell Organics Ltd added, “We are proud to be part of this new strategic partnership with Ramora UK. With the addition of our expertise to Ramora UK's extensive 24/7 Control Room facility, we aim to help minimise the impact of any incident to people, property and environment in the most cost effective and time critical manner.”
